Most of the British HiFi companies make one, but unfortunately, they tend to cost more than a complete receiver. Another option is to purchase a HT receiver with pre-out. Yamaha receivers have this feature starting with their RXV650 model ($550 MSRP) and continues on up to their flagship.Gar.

Surround sound is not a high priority for me, but it is a lot of fun for movies (particularly with a subwoofer!). When I looked for a low-price processor (to use with all my old ss amps), I wound up getting an Outlaw Audio 950 processor. It appears that, at the moment, there are b-stock units on sale for $649.
