Greetings! I have been lucky enough to come into some cash and can now realise my long time dream to put together my own home theatre. I have the space and now the means, I can't wait.

Oooh I'm also in the process of getting my new home theater room to look great and sound even better! It's going awesome so far. It's also very interesting to find that little things can affect sound so that's also something. Well good luck bud!

Yeah I read your posts on the sound issues. Sorted now? I am really enjoying window shopping, it is pretty cool to see how much there is to choose from. I am beginning to think that a bigger budget equals harder decisions to make .
