Anyone else use this service on the internet? You basically search for tracks play them and the link to the track is shared on twitter.

I must get back into using it again, some great tunes on there.

To be honest I had heard of it but had no clue. Cheers for posting this as I got curious enough to look it up. I like the idea of having my own radio station! I've never gotten into the idea of Twitter either but this looks like fun.
