Hey Wayne, UPS did their thing and the Noble volume pot is safe at home. In case you Philistines didn't know (and you know who you are), Wayne Parham was using Auntie Polly's Noble volume pot. Wayne, you need the filament snubber!

Thanks er, uh, Uncle Bill, well, thanks. I have a real nice Foreplay preamp with sweet whispers and all the goodies. It's a good sounding preamp, but your setup was hard to beat too. Don't really need the preamp in some cases, and that's when your stepped attenuator was just perfect. What I really want is for Frank to turn loose some of his Stoetkits. I guess he plans to wait until we've all reviewed the thing. But I'm kind of anxious 'cause I really liked the little amp. Speaking of which, I s'pose it should be headed your way one day real soon.
