You Americans have it good. Here in the UK petrol is almost £8 per gallon, that's more than $12 and most of it is government tax!

Hi, Too bad Virgina is so far from here, I'll take that price any day. It has been well over a year since we saw anything under $3.00. It is $3.35/gal in Arizona now.

The price of gas is actually going down in my area (Upstate NY). I'm paying $3.56 a gallon right now - that is 87 octane. Its funny because on 1 end of town gas is $3.69 and the other end of town it's $3.56.

Its going down here too - finally. We are paying $3.42 a gallon - I hope it continues to drop. I thought with the holidays we would see an increase, not yet though! Fingers crossed!

Hi, Ours has been floating between 3.19 and 3.26 for a few weeks now. Tucson (about 70 mines away) hit 2.99 a few times this month!
