hello Wayne,
I would build a pair of speakers, to be combined with a small digital amplifier (about 10 watts per channel), and to be placed close to the wall on a shelf full of books in a room of about 15 square meters.
I thought to 1Pi and 2pi, could you send me the plans for these speakers? In your opinion which one would be preferable for my purpose? In this situation should be fine as they are or should be made any changes to original plans?

thanks in advance

You've got mail!

Hard to say which one I'd choose. If the room is sort of midbass heavy, makes a throaty sound
