I must say that I am really enjoying Ceelo Green's success. I have been loving his music, from ever since he was with Goodie Mob.
I live in the Atlanta area, and so I saw them quite often, along with Outkast, when they were still virtual unknowns. I thought it was great that while I was on a recent trip to Europe, they were playing lots of Ceelo on the radio, especially his uncensored version of F... You! I will say, however, that although people like him more now, I actually liked his earlier stuff better. Still, it is great to watch him grow!!
