Subject: Old Classics
Posted by JessieF88 on Wed, 12 Jan 2011 13:52:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've always been a modern movie girl at heart, but there are one or two old classics that I am particularly fond of. My absolute favourite 'old classic' movie is 'My Fair Lady'. I love everything from the music, to the way Audrey Hepburn all of a sudden slips from cockney rhyming slang to a well spoken English lady.

Does anyone else have a secret love for old classics here?

Subject: Re: Old Classics
Posted by GoodVibrations on Sat, 15 Jan 2011 17:23:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Even though it has been shown over and over, my favorite classic is The Sound of Music. I guess they show it now once or twice a year, though I don't always watch because I have it on VHS and DVD. When my husband and I were first dating he told me he would never watch a musical. So I finally convinced him to watch The Sound of Music with me and he finally found a musical he enjoyed.

Subject: Re: Old Classics
Posted by Danny on Mon, 07 Feb 2011 19:58:22 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I used to like watching Carousel when I grew up. Now, for some reason, I just can't focus on this type of movie anymore. Or maybe I burned myself out on it...

Subject: Re: Old Classics
Posted by PopcornAlley on Thu, 10 Feb 2011 02:53:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Old Classics are spoken here! The question is where to begin. For movie classics some of my personal favorites are The Maltese Falcon, It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World, How to Suceed in Business Without Really Trying, and every classic James Bond movie. For a favorite musical, I would watch The Music Man everytime.