Excellent site! Very informative especially concerning vinyl and analogue. There is a beautiful Empire 208 completely modded on the site, the best I have ever seen. Take a while to wade through all the TT info but it seems very thorough. Thanks J.R.

Dear All,Some months back--assisted by a helpful reviewer's knowledge--, I saw the website and the President's posted system, and asked a question regarding isolation. I showed a respectful interest in his system, I thought. No answer came. I sent a second letter to the man, asking about isolation. No answer. With the 3rd letter, I criticized him for not taking the interest in someone's interest in his system. He answers back something to the effect, "I'm not a manufacturer and I don't have any obligation to answer your letter" (or similar haughty attitude). Is this promoting ideas about audio??L.A.

You should have stopped after the 2nd letter, then none of this unpleasantness would have come about. Based on the contents of your post, I believe there's more than enough blame to go around.
