I recently added all of my CDs onto my computer and when I put them all on shuffle, it says I have 170 hours worth of music. That's over seven days worth! How much music do you have?

18585 songs, 58.5 Days, 154Gb

still recovering from a portable hard drive crash. The number should be around 22K when everything is back up. I've been lazy the last few weeks getting the remainder done because it is all stuff I have never heard and is stuff that each album must be individually sought out. I lost my 400+ CD collection years ago to the ravages of scratched discs.
