I used to go about once a month - but now DVDs seem to be available very quickly and home systems are so good that friends and I tend to have film nights at home.

Do many of you go to the cinema on a regular basis any more ?

No, it's too expensive, and as you said, movies come out on DVD pretty quickly these days anyway. I also like being able to pause and rewind.

I go to the theater about once a year and it's usually just because we have a 2 for 1 ticket from ordering pizza. There's no movie I can't wait for. I like being at home where I can pause at my leisure.
