I have a perfect pair of Altecs in very nice Custom cabinets and am interested in seeing if there is a good stereo electronic cross-over of audiophile quality that would work well with these drivers. Currently driving them with 300b SET custom amps and custom passive xovers.

I see plenty of DJ type cross-overs but I'm looking for the good stuff.

Please help with brands and model numbers.. Thanks, Pete

Marchand makes high-fidelity active crossovers, and they are adjustable from the front panel, which will make it a little easier to dial them in. Steve Bench also makes a neat little active 6DJ8 crossover if you're more into DIY.
