Subject: What a sad day
Posted by MusicJunkie on Sun, 01 May 2011 02:31:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I lost all my vinyl today because we had a flood in my basement. It got all wet and was beyond saving. It is a very sad day in my house.

Subject: Re: What a sad day
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 01 May 2011 03:26:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Well, the cardboard covers are probably shot but the disks themselves won't be. You can always clean them.

Subject: Re: What a sad day
Posted by MusicJunkie on Tue, 03 May 2011 18:16:27 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

They were completely submersed for a couple hours while we got the water emptied out. I am relatively certain they are probably toast but I will try drying them out before I get rid of them.

Subject: Re: What a sad day
Posted by gofar99 on Tue, 03 May 2011 22:07:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Really a bad thing. I would invest in a Spin Clean (very reasonable cost) and give a try at cleaning the disks. Music direct sells MoFi liners for the disks and while you won't have the covers any longer at least the disks will be protected. Worth a shot at least.