Hi Everyone, I had a great time at the LSAF and meet some really nice folks , heard some great sounding equipment and music. I was really impressed with music by Chris Botti . My ignorance of the excellent stuff he does has now been fixed. I want to thank all the folks who visited us and gave us feedback on the equipment we brought. We listen and learn. Next time, if I can figure out how to do it, I may bring some ESLs instead of the HT type speakers I brought this time. They were the best I could fit into the vehicle.

I was really knocked over with your amps, Bruce. We must get the word out. I hope you'll post a few build write-ups, so people can see what the kits include and what is involved in assembling them. They sure sound and look great, and I think they'll be a BIG hit with folks once they know about them. Every comment I heard about your room was positive. Big thumbs up!

Hi Wayne, Thanks for the kind words. I conferred with Rodney and we are going to prepare some simplified instruction sets to post here. Right now they are quite large with about 40-50 pages each with numerous photos. The instructions are designed so that nearly anyone who can figure out which end of a soldering iron gets hot and recognizes a pair of needle nose pliers on sight can build the kits. Most of the work on the instructions was by Rodney so when you see them, he is the one that deserves the kudos.

Perfect! I love those build write-ups. Most interesting threads on the forums, in my opinion. Those and the technical discussions. Thanks for taking the time to put it all together. I know how much work it is.

Hi Everyone, I started a new thread under group builds where I will be posting as soon as I can get it together both projects and links to projects that were the forerunners of our kits. That way you can choose to either build from scratch or build form a kit.
