Are you lucky to have a fork & screen theater in your area? I just found out that the AMC theater in NJ has changed one of its theater to offer food served at your seat by a waiter. The movie costs the same as in other theaters and the food prices are comparable to Fridays or Applebees. I am in love with this concept. I am lucky that I don't live so far from it.

I think that's kind of cool. I had heard of those, but we don't have one in Tulsa. We used to have a historic drive-in, but the screen burned last summer. It is being rebuilt now.

I have been bragging to my brothers and friends that live far from Jersey about it. They are all hoping they expand it to other states in the nation.

We have one! It's a little bit of a drive, but it's so cool to be able to eat and drink while watching a movie! It's a great "first date" type of place, because you can do the dinner and a movie all in one spot.
