What do you use to listen to music while running? I know must people have an iPod, iShuffle or something small like that. I have seen them on armbands. I have heard that there are some that the headphones are part of the sunglasses. Is this true? Who makes them?

Well I generally don't run, but I do understand the issue with mp3 players and/or headphones shifting with impact. One brand of sunglasses/headphones is iJams but I have no idea how the quality is.

I like to listen to fast-paced music like Queens Of the Stone Age or White Stripes - anything to keep me hyped! I pretty much always listen to them, anyway!
