

---

Subject: New Theater too scared to pull the trigger?

Posted by Jolene on Sat, 02 Jul 2011 16:29:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I am full of trepidation about setting up our home theater. With technology changing so quickly, I don't want to buy really expensive equipment that will be outdated immediately, even the TV itself. Five years from now will we be using TVs or some kind of computer/TV device. I am looking at an all-in-one home theater system but I don't want to get stuck with a dinosaur in two years.

---

---

Subject: Re: New Theater too scared to pull the trigger?

Posted by audioaudio90 on Sun, 03 Jul 2011 13:37:23 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's always the trouble with buying new electronics; it seems like something new comes out the day after!

All you can do is go by what you know today; if you research and something new is coming out that you want to try, then hold off on your purchase.

---