On an average day, how much time would you say you spend listening to music? I think I spend a couple hours, although I often wish it were more.

It varies wildly for me. Some days I might listen for 8 hours, but then I won't listen again for a few days. It probably averages out to 1-2 hours a day.

I'm more like audioaudio90. I listen to music for hours one day and then none the next. Typically, if I am playing a show or rehearsing, I do not listen to much other music that day, at least afterwards, but if I am working on a website or working on my equipment, I will listen to music all day long!

Hi, I'm much the same, 5-8 hours or more on some days and only 1-2 on others. A lot of vinyl recently. Really vintage stuff from the late 50s and early 60s Rock.

At least 5-6 hours a day for me, but I do a lot of mixing, so some days it's as much as 15 hours or more.

When I have the time for it, I'll listen to music for several hours in a day, but that usually isn't the case. How closely I listen varies a lot too. I love to be fully focused on my favorite music, I feel like that's definitely the best way to enjoy it. Unfortunately, there are some days where I'm just lucky to have it on in the background while I'm working or driving.

Good question! I watch very little TV during the day. I have the radio on almost all day long. On the weekends, I go to music festivals, or go to hear local bands. So, music makes up a very big part of my day.

I don't think I even watch TV anymore. I spend so much time working on my music and listening to music is pretty much all I ever do.

I would say, I spend a couple hours listening to music, each day. Unless, it is house cleaning day, then I listen to music all day.

I have my radio off and on, all day, so I do not think I can even calculate how much music I listen to. I actually prefer my radio, over the television, and often just relax to some nice music.
