Subject: Do your pets like music?
Posted by Danny on Thu, 18 Aug 2011 18:57:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I play music all the time, and sometimes when I start dancing, my dog gets happy and tries to jump up and dance with me! Does anyone else have pets that like to dance?

Subject: Re: Do your pets like music?
Posted by brian21 on Thu, 06 Oct 2011 06:16:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's pretty funny, my dog does the same thing! I'm not sure if he's actually into the music, I think he just likes the positive energy. My cats act the opposite way, they seem to be scared of loud music. It's interesting how animals respond to sounds, you really get to see a little bit of their personality sometimes.

Subject: Re: Do your pets like music?
Posted by DJ Dave on Thu, 01 Dec 2011 15:40:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You're right, brian21, I am pretty sure it is the positive energy, My dog seems to be happy and playful when I am happy. He also seems to be sad when I am not feeling well.

Subject: Re: Do your pets like music?
Posted by gofar99 on Thu, 01 Dec 2011 20:36:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi, My cats "sing" along to some music. Really a crazy sound. I have to put them in another room to do serious music listening.

Subject: Re: Do your pets like music?
Posted by Bill Wassilak on Fri, 23 Dec 2011 04:08:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My old dog did, her favorite cd was 'And Justice For All' by Metallica. She was ready to dance when I put that on!!

Subject: Re: Do your pets like music?
Posted by j0ann3 on Tue, 03 Jan 2012 22:39:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Last month my parents were working on a performance for their bowling club and our cats just gathered around the speakers and just stood there like they were listening to the music... take note that the music was bass heavy and pretty fast beat and amazingly it didn't scare them away xx