
Subject: Learning to mix like a DJ

Posted by falloutgirl on Sat, 10 Sep 2011 18:18:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

How hard is it to learn how to mix songs like DJs do? I was listening to DJ Earworm's tracks on youtube and it is so amazing and all I can do is make a medley of songs but not mix them like he does!! How does one learn that? Is it very, very hard? Because it looks hard O_O

Subject: Re: Learning to mix like a DJ

Posted by Christy on Mon, 19 Sep 2011 12:17:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I am not sure how's hard it is to learn how to dj. I bet you can find some videos on YouTube, that will help in your learning process. If you are really interested, maybe you can find a local dj, that will let you watch them and learn. It never hurts to ask.

Subject: Re: Learning to mix like a DJ

Posted by Danny on Mon, 19 Sep 2011 14:00:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't think you can really learn without practicing. Watch some DJ's at a show, and get a few pointers. Then, get the equipment you need and practice, practice, practice!!

Subject: Re: Learning to mix like a DJ

Posted by AdrianG on Mon, 24 Oct 2011 23:18:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think Danny's right, the key to getting better is a lot of practice. I had a friend in college who was a DJ and he worked really hard on it, it was his passion. He gradually got better, but I think it took him at least a couple years before he really had it down. It's one of those things that takes a fair amount of coordination.
