Well my DE250's arrived and after mounting to their horns, I had a listen. Disappointed at first - a bit harsh and a bit phasey in imaging. However after about 10 hrs of playing time, I have to say that they sound MUCH better. The imaging is very solid with great width and depth. Instrument placement is very clear and precise. I need to add Bill's Rope Calk tweak, but that may have to wait a bit as I'll be gone most of the week on a business trip. Anyway, Wayne your 4pi crossover sounds great, as does this new top end for my speakers.

Good to hear. Yeah, those DE250s are sweet. Right up there with TADs and the beryllium JBLs, in my opinion. Price is way lower though, so that's good. They aren't cheap drivers, but they aren't real expensive either.
