Do you play online games enough to want to buy a headset that works well with games? I have considered it, but it seems like they are a bit pricey. I don't know if the sound is really worth dishing out $250 for a headset.

I do not play online games enough, to buy a specialty headset. $250 sounds like too much to pay, even if you play online all the time. Have you checked around to see if you can find a better deal?
