Subject: Other than the piano, what is your favorite keyboard instrument?
Posted by brian21 on Thu, 06 Oct 2011 06:09:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I like to play the piano sometimes, it was the first instrument I learned. When it comes to listening to classical music though, I really prefer the sound of a pipe organ. There are some amazing harpsichord pieces out there too. Besides the piano, do you like the sound of other keyboard instruments?

Subject: Re: Other than the piano, what is your favorite keyboard instrument?
Posted by DJ Dave on Fri, 07 Oct 2011 11:18:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I used to play the organ, but you don't see it much in music bands anymore. And I didn't want to play in a church choir, either....

Subject: Re: Other than the piano, what is your favorite keyboard instrument?
Posted by audioaudio90 on Fri, 07 Oct 2011 13:26:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I really like organs as well; their sound is wonderful. Harpsichords are neat to hear too, although I've never gotten to play around on one.

Subject: Re: Other than the piano, what is your favorite keyboard instrument?
Posted by Christy on Fri, 07 Oct 2011 15:46:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Organs, do sound really nice. I have seen bands use a stand up bass, and cello. Some band needs to bring the organ, back to music. Do they make small organs? My guess, is that nobody wants to lug a big organ, around to gigs.