Anyone here watching out for news on anything in particular that will be up for grabs next month? I've been looking at the Amazon site page for BlackFriday - but they're not giving anything away!

I really don't like the thought of crowds and waiting in long lines. I am going to stay home and surf eBay and Amazon. They always have lots of good deals!

I agree with Drury - I haven't seen anything spectacular on Amazon this Black Friday. But I still prefer online shopping to waiting in those long lines.

There was nothing on Amazon for Black Friday. I was not impressed at all - I figured they would have a Kindle deal and they did not. I have not bought one thing for the Holidays off of Amazon this year.
