
Subject: Coupons - are they worth it?

Posted by DJ Dave on Thu, 01 Dec 2011 15:37:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't know if "saving" with coupons is such a good idea. I seem to end up buying a lot of junk and things I don't need. True, I pay very little for them, but if I buy 5 things that I don't need, no matter how little the cost, wouldn't I have been better off just buying 1 thing that I did need?

Subject: Re: Coupons - are they worth it?

Posted by mixinlady on Tue, 27 Dec 2011 21:25:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think it depends what your household situation is. There are crazy coupon ladies who can walk away with $500 worth of groceries for 10 cents...however, at the cost of a huge amount of their time. I think as long as the time involved to clip/manage said coupons doesn't outweigh the benefits one gets from using them, then they can be worth it.

Subject: Re: Coupons - are they worth it?

Posted by AdrianG on Sun, 26 Feb 2012 22:40:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love coupons for things like pizza and fast food. You can really save a lot, and they're easy to use. It's not like I have to spend time going through papers to clip them, they usually just come in the mail.
