Posted by tjambro on Wed, 21 Dec 2011 05:04:24 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Wayne,

surrounds. I'm not likely to get the time to do this until next spring. I could buy the kits sooner rather than later if you anticipate a price increase.

Do you post on the forums when a price increase is about to happen?

Thanks.

-Tom A.

Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 21 Dec 2011 05:49:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You've got mail!

As for price increases, I usually don't post anywhere but here. Sometimes I pop around on other sites, but I spend much more time here. When there are price changes, it usually gets brought up here. But I haven't had a price increase in a long time.

If you see component prices go up, then it's a sure bet my prices will have to go up also. But I never jumped on the neodymium bandwagon, so that price jump didn't affect me. I expect probably there will be some gradual increases of other components over the next year or two, so I may have to increase prices accordingly. But I don't have plans to do that at this time.