I just saw the trailer of this movie yesterday. I'm a fan of American Pie and I have watched the series from the beginning. I like the part where almost all of the cast from the first American Pie are present in this movie. I can't wait to see this next year.

I did not know they were coming out with an American Pie reunion movie. How cool is that! I started watching it when they first came out too. I must admit that I might be getting a bit old to watch a new one. The Naked Mile totally threw me off!

I watched the first couple American Pie movies but was not thrilled at all. I thought they were geared towards a younger crowd. I won't be watching the Reunion.

I agree that this type of movies are aimed for younger crowds. I was a teenager too when I watched the first part. I guess I didn't become old by heart so I still like watching this movie.
