It's time for one Merry Christmas, six Hannukah candles, my third "splash" of Wild Turkey and second Longneck. And a single driver made from pear veneer. 5 gold rings. Or was that 9 for Men, 3 for Elves.....

I wish you all a merry Christmas.http://www.spaudio.com/My frind Stephen Paul passed away on the 22nd this month. He was a pioneer of the microphone modifications of vintage mics and gave neumann the secret to being able to produce a mic under 6 microns of element thickness. To date, SP has developed diaphrams with 0.7 micron thickness and rendered all the technology he presrented 3 years ago obsolete.May he be in peace.

Built on dreams look at his site.

I had that Flu last month, George. What a terrible 7 days! Like the rest of the world. An epidemic. It seems that everyone coming back to work is still badly congested. Lot's of shrill nose blowing. And complaints about sinus infections and congestion that won't go away. Mine subsided in a few days and others who've taken this advice say the same thing.When you blow your nose, you force mucus up into your sinuses even tho' a lot is coming out. The more and harder you blow, worse it gets. Just wipe a runny nose with a tissue and don't blow at all. Requires some discipline. If you're badly congested, put very hot compresses over your eyes covering your face from the lips to the forehead every hour for 10 minutes. Keep the cloth hot. Guaranteed relief in less than 48 hours. Unless of course you do have an infection in which case do the same but it will take a week.Takes the pressure off your ears too and music sounds better.
