Do you think it would be possible to hook up speakers to a bicycle? It would be awesome to cruise down the street blasting my favorite tunes.

I love it. Now on bass notes does the bike slow down and speed up in time with the cones?

Haha, that's amazing! It looks completely ride-able, too. Wonder how heavy it is to pedal. I'd love to see one of those suckers in action on my street.

That is an awesome picture, I could imagine seeing a bike like that in a comedy movie. In real life though, I would think it would be way too heavy to pedal. On the plus side, I guess it would be less likely to be stolen!
