What did you think of Madonna's halftime performance? I thought the visuals were really neat but I wish she wouldn't have lip-synced the performance. I have more respect when musicians actually sing during live shows.

This is so true, especially with most of the current pop singers, if you have to use auto-tune so you don't sound like you're having a heart attack every time you sing then just release some Albums, we don't pay to see you lip-sync...
