Awww, my two-year-old is already writing songs. She grabs her play guitar, mashes the buttons, and sings "Cow cow cow dog, COW DOG".

She'll win a Grammy one day.

That is too funny! My nephew always sings funny songs, he makes up on the spot. The last song was about. Running from the cops, after watching the Cops television show. It was the funniest thing I have heard in a while.

Leelee--Aww, I wish I could hear your nephew's song; it sounds funny! Maybe you should record him.

Also, thanks to both of you for humoring my shameless kid brag post.

To show such creativity at a young age is a good sign. It's always the imaginative ones who are stringing together songs at an early age.

That is so sweet! My three year old sings all day long and she also has a guitar and a keyboard. I love listening to her back in her room making up songs and stories.
