
Subject: Leap Day

Posted by The Wiz on Wed, 29 Feb 2012 23:43:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Today's that magical day that only comes around once every four years. I was reading that some places are offering special deals for the day. Then there is the issue of salaried employees claiming they are working for free today. Do you have any feelings about this odd day?

Subject: Re: Leap Day

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 01 Mar 2012 04:03:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I find the history of the switch from Julian to Gregorian calendars to be interesting:
The Curious History of the Gregorian Calendar

Subject: Re: Leap Day

Posted by The Wiz on Fri, 02 Mar 2012 02:11:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That is pretty interesting, I honestly wasn't familiar with the Julian calendar. I guess we really can't complain about losing an hour during a daylight savings time change. In 1752 British people lost twelve days!
