What are some of the more interesting novelty speakers that you have seen? A friend of mine has one that looks like a basketball. We agree that the sound isn't very good, but it was a gift from someone who knew he was a big basketball fan.

These doggie computer speakers probably sound terrible but they are really cute. I wouldn't turn them down as a gift although I'd never spend my own money on them.

I like the KNG iPod DJ Dock, which sells for about $30 at Amazon's website. I'm sure it's a weak speaker and it probably sounds terrible, but if I were to buy a dock for my iPod, this would have to be it!

My nieces would love those puppy speakers, and even I have to admit that I like the KNG speaker, but this one right here is my favorite:

It retails for about $50 dollars, so it's a bit pricey, but who couldn't make full use of a cooler with a built in speaker?
