Hi Everyone, Oddwatt is getting ready to branch out. After much soul searching we have decided to not only provide premium audio kits, but to have fully assembled and tested products. We will distinguish them with a different name and logo (with the wording that they are from Oddwatt). First ones are expected to be the KT120 mono-blocks followed by a phonograph preamp similar to the Groove. It may be that the line stage preamp will beat it to the street though. We love diy and the kits and will absolutely continue to develop and produce them, but there has been a huge number of requests for fully ready to use gear. So stay tuned for developments.
