Do you still have the factory installed stereo in your car? I do have the factory stereo in my car. My hubby however, has spent a good bit of money replacing the factory stereo in his truck with higher quality equipment and speakers.

We still have the factory stereo in all of our vehicles. We don't have the time or patience, or really even the need to upgrade them any further.

Yep, we have still got the factory stereos too. Before we had kids we used to get a "better" radio installed, but now our priorities have changed a bit.
