Subject: No more video stores
Posted by TurnItUp on Mon, 07 May 2012 18:52:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I miss being able to go to the store and rent a movie! Now our town doesn't have a single video store left. I have never tried the Redbox thing before, but if we want to see a new movie I guess we will have to try it.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by gofar99 on Wed, 09 May 2012 21:34:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That is odd, we now have two. They rent mostly dvds, but there still some vhs.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by likearecordbaby on Sat, 12 May 2012 16:38:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't think there is a real loss here, unless you only rent movies once in a blue moon and using Netflix or the like would be much more expensive for you. Renting movies has only become more convenient these days!

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by LuvMartin on Thu, 17 May 2012 22:34:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We don't have any video stores in our town either. I miss being able to go in and rent something especially when something new comes out. We have Netflix, but we only do streaming services now.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by love2play on Sun, 20 May 2012 22:01:50 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are no video stores here either anymore. We had one near the house that closed, reopened for about 2 months, and then closed again. Netflix is alright, but it is rare they get anything new.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by Nymeria on Mon, 21 May 2012 19:20:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oddly enough we still have a Blockbuster and an independent video store in our small town, although we normally use Redbox. The only downside of Redbox is it doesn't have older movies; I guess I can rent them from Amazon, though, if I don't feel like running to the video store.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by Shane on Tue, 22 May 2012 03:56:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We have the Hastings chain here (founded locally) that rents, but we've been using Redbox for over a year for DVD and BluRay without a hitch. I once had a DVD that was a bit scratched and wouldn't play. One call to Redbox and they emailed me a coupon for a free rental. We get freebies and coupons all the time from them as well.

Subject: Re: No more video stores
Posted by LoveJB on Mon, 28 May 2012 12:01:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We still have a small mom and pop rental store in our town. We had a Blockbuster but that closed. I usually rent from Redbox or Netflix.com. I loved having a Blockbuster - it was great running in and grabbing a movie.
