Wayne,

What wood do you use for the 12PI Knock down wood? Looks like Baltic Birch Ply?

Also,

I've got a future project in mind to build a pair of 4PI for home use... Is the 12Pi too much sub for these speakers in a home setting?

Thanks,
Andy

another pair in the opposite corners of the room. That way you'll smooth room modes as well as gain extension, and you just really don't need the brute force or size of the horns subs.

Now then, if you're trying to drive a stadium, that's a different story entirely...
