Anyone else a fan of Skull Candy headphones? They've been my favorite for years. I love how they come in such kickass colors and designs, and most are not the "ear bud" variety, which I hate.

Skull Candy is ok. I like the colors and designs and the audio quality is good enough for what they are. When I need something small, I have a set of cheaper earbuds I often use, though, since I don't mind earbuds. Otherwise I have a pair of AKG 240 headphones I use when I want quality.

Skull Candy is a great brand if you like headphones. However, I much prefer ear buds myself. I also find Skull Candy headphones to be on the pricier end of things.
