One of my Facebook friends had put up a post with a picture today that said "when someone says ten years ago I still think they are talking about the 90's and not 2002". I realized that I do that ALL the time. Where and the world does the time go? I am a few years shy of having been out of high school for TWENTY YEARS!

Hi, I tend to do that.... thinking a 1964 mustang would be cool, then remembering it was almost 50 years ago. I did own a 66 convertible for a while.

I think we all do that at least sometime, and we must be about the same age. I totally blew off my ten year high school reunion, but I just might have to go to the twenty year.
