Subject: Best iPod "Boombox" Portable System? Posted by VoigtClub on Sat, 03 Nov 2012 03:03:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I was just reminded of a couple of years ago when I was doing some teaching jobs and needed a good portable "boombox" style system with near-audiophile quality sound.

After reading lots of reviews and trying out a number of systems, the best competitors being the Bose SoundDock and Altec IM9, I settled on another very impressive system (whose name escapes me at the moment) that unlike the desktop systems, would pack flat into a file box (8x11" and about 3" thick) -- which was perfect for a traveling teacher. Once I took it apart and treated the innards with proper damping, it was pretty impressive.

It's now a few years later... and I'm again curious what are the best portable boombox type systems that can deliver audio that an audiophile wouldn't cringe at.

Anyone?

Subject: Re: Best iPod "Boombox" Portable System? Posted by Kenwoody on Mon, 15 Apr 2013 23:54:23 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm curious about this as well. I have heard that Logitech is making really good portable iPod systems now, but I have yet to listen to one for myself. Bose systems have always been an audiophile's friend though, so I would imagine they have a premium sound system for iPods as well.

Subject: Re: Best iPod "Boombox" Portable System? Posted by timron on Tue, 16 Apr 2013 19:38:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't know if you guys are familiar with and/or trust CNET Reviews, but I just checked them out and they gave the best rating to the Fluance FiSDK500, which is priced at $200-230. A Bose system made the list as well, but it didn't review as highly (about a half star lower) and it cost more than twice as much, at $540-600.

Subject: Re: Best iPod "Boombox" Portable System? Posted by iLoveiPod on Fri, 26 Apr 2013 20:55:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

timron wrote on Tue, 16 April 2013 14:38I don't know if you guys are familiar with and/or trust CNET Reviews, but I just checked them out and they gave the best rating to the Fluance

FiSDK500, which is priced at $200-230. A Bose system made the list as well, but it didn't review as highly (about a half star lower) and it cost more than twice as much, at $540-600.

I've never heard of Fluance before, but I've been in the market for a portable iPod dock/speaker for a while now, so I will definitely have to check this out. We're going on vacation in about four months and I'd love to be able to take it with us so we can listen to music in the hotel room.