What are your family members asking for as their "big" Christmas gift this year? My kids are still really young so they don't ask for big gifts just yet. I think my husband and I may get the family a new tv though.

I think I'm getting lucky this year because all I'm getting asked for is a puppy. Last year though it was a big screen, 46" flat screen.

I wish I could get a puppy, but with two small kids and an adult dog that might be a bit much. I wouldn't mind a flat screen tv though.

Believe it or not my ex-wife is asking for an electric wire to string over the brick wall around her yard. Her dogs keep jumping the fence and she wants a deterrent strung up.

Does that really work? I have heard that with some bigger dogs they will just go ahead and jump anyway. We finally got our yard fenced in with chainlink so I don't have to worry anymore.
