How on Earth did we ever get anything done before Youtube? There have been three separate occasions this week when I needed some information on how to do something, and it was Youtube to the rescue!

I know what you mean LuvMartin! I use Youtube tutorials to help me learn new things, and to figure out what I am doing wrong when I am trying to fix things.

The only time I'm on You Tube is to get my daily music fix. I know I save a lot of money on CD's by going there and I do find new stuff that's really good.
