Subject: Music documentaries
Posted by love2play on Thu, 06 Dec 2012 20:24:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Is anyone else here a fan of documentaries about bands and musicians? We watched one about Madonna and another about Michael Jackson last night, and they were both really good. If you have Netflix they added a whole bunch of stuff in the concert and music section this week.

Subject: Re: Music documentaries
Posted by LuvMartin on Fri, 07 Dec 2012 18:32:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I really enjoy watching concerts and documentaries in general, not just music documentaries. I do have Netflix so I will have to check them out this weekend.

Subject: Re: Music documentaries
Posted by Azuri on Sat, 08 Dec 2012 06:36:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I like them a lot actually. They're usually pretty informative and I love learning everything I can about music. I like it when they put concert footage in them as well.

Subject: Re: Music documentaries
Posted by iLoveiPod on Sun, 09 Dec 2012 01:43:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

love2play wrote on Thu, 06 December 2012 14:24Is anyone else here a fan of documentaries about bands and musicians? We watched one about Madonna and another about Michael Jackson last night, and they were both really good. If you have Netflix they added a whole bunch of stuff in the concert and music section this week.

I love to watch concerts and music documentaries and I have Netflix too, so thanks for the heads up.

Have you seen the one on Netflix about Pink Floyd?