Well, Psy performed at the White House over the weekend even though there was controversy over some violent anti-American lyrics from 2002. What did you think about the controversy? Was it a valid issue or a tempest in a teapot?

Tempest in a teapot. I haven't heard them but if it was anti American then it obviously was nothing to worry about on a national scale. If it was then they wouldn't have been at the White House. I would think at least.
