Has anyone else here been seeing a lot of rain lately? It's been raining off and on since Christmas eve, with a forecast of rain off and on all the way through New Year's day. I'm so sick of rain!!

Yeah, we've been seeing a fair amount of drizzle and rain here, too. Even when it's not raining, it's still been overcast for more than a week now. I'll be glad when the sun comes back out and the weather warms up a bit.

We have had a good bit of rain since before Christmas too, and it is supposed to rain through the weekend. I feel like I haven't seen the sun in forever. This is Georgia not Seattle!

Hi, no rain, but we are supposed to get snow tonight (southern Arizona). This will be the second time in a week! Temps supposed to go down to the upper teens - low twenties for 4 nights in a row. Gads, I think I'll move to someplace warm.

I wish we would get some snow. Right now it is 73 degrees in my house and I have all of my windows open. We are supposed to get some more rain later, and then this weekend it is supposed to get cold again.
