My family has been sick since Christmas and no one really seems to be getting better. Both of the kids run fevers off and on and are really congested. My husband and I are both trying to cough up a lung and are also congested. I am so ready for these germs to hit the road!

Sounds like you guys have what has been dubbed "the crud" around here. Seems like just about everyone either has it or has had it. I hope that you and your family get to feeling better soon!
