All kinds of problems finding parts; especially the transistors, oops, there it is; Radio Shack! Who would have thunk it. They are down to about 50 passive parts and they have the two I need. Should be done with Rod Elliotts pre this week and seeing as how I just got my Tripath amp in the mail it should be fun. Geez; I remmember when fun was something else. The little T-amp sounds pretty good on the Pi 4's. Time for a shootout between the GC and the tripath.

Can you describe any differences you hear between the Gainclone and the Tripath? Are they both pretty neutral sounding? Or do they have their own flavors?
