I really like art house movies but made an exception recently to see Oz the Great and Powerful with a friend. It was a fun watch, and I enjoyed it more once I stopped wondering why Alice hadn't made an appearance. Doh, wrong movie!

I saw this the other day and was quite entranced. I have heard people complaining that it is too far from the original but I don't see how they didn't know that beforehand!. I didn't think it was much fun for the smaller kids there though.
