

---

Subject: Snacking on public transport

Posted by Chokabloc on Sun, 24 Mar 2013 06:55:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I wish people wouldn't eat on public transport. In the last week I have had to endure the smell of burgers, pizza and fries on a bus and a train.

---

---

Subject: Re: Snacking on public transport

Posted by Kenwoody on Tue, 26 Mar 2013 01:46:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I wish we had public transportation! There has been talking of a rail line coming our way for years, running north to south and connecting two larger cities in our state. Unfortunately, no one wants to agree to the temporary tax increase that would make it happen.

---

---

Subject: Re: Snacking on public transport

Posted by gofar99 on Tue, 26 Mar 2013 02:16:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi I'm with you all on both counts, snacking is out and I wish we had public transportation. The railway pulled out decades ago and the long haul buses went away a number of years ago. We have an airport (shared runway with the military), but no plane service. If you don't drive a car....you better have a horse

---

---

Subject: Re: Snacking on public transport

Posted by Kenwoody on Thu, 28 Mar 2013 01:13:42 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That's how it is here, too! The crazy thing is that we have a train station right here in town and a passenger line used to run through everyday. I think it was sometime in the 60's or 70's that the line quit running though, and ever since we've been dependent on cars, or bikes if you're willing to risk sharing the road with crazy drivers. (We don't even have bike paths here.)

---

---

Subject: Re: Snacking on public transport

Posted by Danny on Wed, 03 Apr 2013 12:07:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I remember when I worked three jobs. I used to have to eat and sleep on public transport. I didn't like it any more than my fellow passengers did, but I really didn't have a choice in the matter.

---

---

Subject: Re: Snacking on public transport
Posted by Kara on Wed, 03 Apr 2013 13:57:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't have a problem with people eating on public transport, especially if it is through necessity, as in Danny's case. I think you have to use some common sense when you decide what to eat though. There are plenty of things around that don't leave smells behind.

---