I am so sick of going to the dentist! I've been working my way towards dentures for months now, having a few teeth pulled at a time, then going back later for check-ups. Today I have another check-up and I swear this must be my tenth visit with them this year!

Pull them all at once would be my suggestion. Things like that are what morphine is for. But yeah, I'm with here. I don't like dental visits either.
